AmScope M620 Series Monocular LED Compound Microscope 40X-2500X Magnification

The M620 monocular compound microscope is designed for classrooms and basic laboratory applications. It is an ideal microscope for teachers and students, including those in medical school or with a major in biology. It has a number of advancements in functionality compared to other microscopes in its class, such as enhanced LED lighting and a centerable condenser. Use the microscope for studying fixed or live cells, bacteria, plants and soil, or water samples. The monocular head keeps things sim...
